STINK BUGS

SEE SOMETHING...SAY SOMETHING...

Every month we will focus on specific pests that plague residents here in the Northwest. This month we will focus on Stink Bugs. With us heading into spring, these bugs will come out of their hibernation and be more present around your home.

Brown Marmorated Stink Bugs are an invasive species from East Asia. They are invasive because they are not indigenous to this area. With them being a non-native species, they are able to eat a wide variety of plants that consist of over 170 different species of fruits and vegetables.

To prevent get rid of Stink Bugs the recommendation is to NOT squish them. They emit an odor that is very pungent and may attract other stink bugs into your home. The recommendation is to make sure your house is sealed properly around windows and doors. The best way to get rid of them is to fill a foil roasting pan with water and dish soap. You then want to place a light over the pan to attract the bugs.

MAINTENANCE CORNER

This month we wanted to focus on keeping stairways and stairwells clear. These need to remain clean and clear just in case there are any issues emergency personnel can access units in a timely manner. This is also a trip hazard for residents having to maneuver around obstructions. These obstructions also provide shelter to pests during these cold months. Any questions or concerns make sure you contact your RS or maintenance for clarification or resolutions.
