Puyallup Tribal Members: EQC Riverboat for sale

We wanted to share some news that may come as a bit of a surprise. On Dec. 22, after conducting our due diligence and weighing the pros and cons of using the boat for a potential economic endeavor, the original EQC Riverboat has been listed for sale!

As part of our constant push for economic development, the paddle boat that served us in the Port of Tacoma from 1995 through 2005 has been put up for sale for $4.9 million. The Emerald Queen Paddle Boat served our Tribe well and laid the foundation for us to open and operate the two premier casinos in the Northwest.

We are continuing to diversify our revenue base, and this will help fund more projects like the opening of BetMGM Sportsbook at EQC, the Amazon partnership, and, at long last, developing our Port.

Warmly,
Your Puyallup Tribal Council

Tribal Council applauds U.S. Attorney's Office for busting money-laundering, tax evasion scheme

The following statement was shared in a press release from Puyallup Tribal Council on Dec. 17.*

The Puyallup Tribal Council applauds the United States Attorney's Office in Seattle for its thorough investigation and prosecution of three non-Indian individuals and one non-Puyallup Indian for money-laundering activities and violations of tax laws.

The Puyallup Tribe works diligently to make sure that fraud and tax law violations are not allowed to go forward in areas under the Tribe's control. It is important to understand that neither the Tribe nor any Tribal member had any involvement in the illegal activities prosecuted in this case.

Smokeshops licensed by the Tribe engage in the retail sale of cigarettes and other tobacco products. None of those smokeshops in any way violated federal, state, or Tribal tax laws in the events involved in this case.

The Tribe will continue, as it has always done, to regulate the activities of its licensees in order to prevent, and where necessary, prosecute, any violations of tax and other laws.

Details of the case can be found in The Justice Department's press release.

Tribal Council response to announcement of criminal charges in Electron Hydro case:

The following statement was shared in a Tribal announcement from Puyallup Tribal Council on Jan. 10.*

We appreciate the extensive investigation by the attorney general's office. The discharge of turf into the river at Electron Dam caused grave environmental harm. Salmon and other wildlife have already paid the price. Now it is time for those responsible to face the consequences.

Puyallup Tribe appeals Tacoma LNG decision

The following statement was shared in a Tribal announcement from Puyallup Tribal Council on Dec. 20*

Tribal Council statement on Tribe's appeal of the decision by state Pollutions Control Hearings Board to uphold Puget Sound Energy's permit to build an LNG facility:

As we said last month, we are profoundly disappointed the board upheld the remainder of the permit and we expect the decision will embolden companies that start projects that feed climate change and put vulnerable communities at risk. We were put here to protect these lands and waters and that is what we will continue to do. We will continue the fight. Too much is at stake.

Puyallup people present to local high school

By Kalli Albertus, Puyallup Tribal News Editor

Tribal Councilwoman Annette Bryan, Elder Teddy Simchen and Archie Cantrell from the language department visited a Washington state history class at Silas High school on Dec. 14. Members of the Puyallup Tribe were invited to Mr. Sherl's class to discuss the local Native American culture and issues they had recently been learning about.

Councilwoman Bryan, Teddy Simchen and Archie Cantrell gave the students background on their Native identity as Puyallup Tribal Members, and participated in a Q&A to answer their questions around modern Native American issues the Tribe is facing. Students were eager to learn more and asked questions surrounding Native American mascots, reclaiming stolen land, and the Tribe's stance on the LNG plant.

Councilwoman Bryan shared how important it is to the Puyallup people to fight for and protect their land, and how students can support environmental causes: "There's a lot of opportunity to make change in the world. With regulation development, policy development. These are the ways we make change," she continues, "We're doing it for our people. For our future generations."

Following the class discussion, Archie Cantrell drummed and sang the Puyallup Tribes Power Song.

Tribe sponsors Queen's Float for lifetime

Scott Dellinger, president of the Daffodil Festival, accepts a check for $30,000 from Chairman Bill Sterud on Dec. 14, 2021. With the Chairman inside Council Chambers are Vice Chairwoman Sylvia Miller and Councilman James Rideout. The Tribe is sponsoring the Queen's Float for the float's lifetime. It will be built by the Community Events department early next year in coordination with the Daffodil Parade organizers. During the parade on April 9, 2022, the float will be used by festival royalty.

family), Snoqualmie

This evening we opened up our duk^wibəł ceremony, commencing the Lushootseed and English reading of our Creation History. The story begins with the Snoqualmie people as they gathered food, gave thanks and ate together. The story then follows two sisters as they went to gather food and camped under the stars. They were wishing on the stars when they were suddenly take to the sky world.

Stay tuned each Wednesday at 6 pm to see what happens next!

Information about the Creation History nights:

We are incredibly excited to present to you our Creation History - duk^wibəł, told by Jerry Kanim (Snoqualmie Tribe). Each week, Lushootseed speaking community members will read through Kanim's version of our Creation History.

Sharing of this history will take place over an 18-week period. Each week you will watch, listen and learn through the eyes of our ancestors.

Course dates:

Wednesdays promptly from 6 to 7 pm
(early log in will be available)
January 12 – March 9 9 weeks
March 30 – May 25 9 weeks

The sessions will be set up as a webinar, so you will get to only see the readers and the screen. You do not need to worry about turning your camera or microphone off. You will have access to the chat box if you need to communicate.

You will not be called upon to speak Lushootseed during the readings. There may be times at the end of the reading when you will be able to share the teachings that you heard that evening.

Our Creation History:

The story of duk^wibət was told by throughout Lushootseed country. These histories are the foundation of our culture. They give us insight into the world of our ancestors. They explain lessons, teachings and they guide us through our lives. They help to explain how things came to be in existence today.

These histories were shared by all Tribes and families in our area. These stories are shared in Lushootseed so our children will know how to walk tall with an honorable mind; so they will not be lost in this world.

We understand that not everyone shares the same teachings. However, we are following the teachings of our Elders who taught us that these stories were shared with everyone, because no one was denied the teachings of the Traditional Narratives. Furthermore, the stories that we are sharing have already been made public by books, recordings and videos. We are not revealing anything that has not already been shared. We are sharing this to keep our Traditional Histories and Narratives alive for future generations.

Our community:

This 18-week course is open the Puyallup Tribal community (Tribal members, spouses, parents of members, Tribal entity employees and Natives living on the Puyallup reservation) and Tribal Community Members (Northern & Southern Lushootseed speaking Tribes, other Tribal members living in our area). We want to give our Native community the opportunity to hear this history reading before the general public. Feel free to encourage your Natives to register at any point during the 18 week course. We will give weekly recaps if you missed any courses.

This is an ideal opportunity for you to gather your family together and share a meal while listening to our Creation History.

Holiday Elders drive-thru luncheon

By Kalli Albertus, Puyallup Tribal News Editor

The holiday spirit was in full swing during the Elder's drive-thru luncheon on Dec. 17. Vernetta Miller and the Elders staff provided a hot meal including chicken, salmon, green beans, mashed potatoes and gravy, a garden salad and apple strudel for dessert. Elders also received their own box of Godiva chocolates, and prizes were handed out to raffle winners in the car line. The Culture Department generously crafted holiday gift baskets filled with a handmade drum, canned salmon, a blanket, and other home goods for the kitchen. Chairman Bill Sterud dressed in full Santa attire while Dan Sandstrom and his daughter Hope Sandstrom sang Christmas carols in the parking lot. Councilmembers James Rideout, Fred Dillon, and Monica Miller helped pass out goods to every vehicle, including emergency safety buckets provided by the Public Safety Division.

WALKING ON

Ty Conway

May 23, 2007 - December 19, 2021

Tacoma, Washington - Ty Conway, a member of the Puyallup Tribe was born on 5/23/07 in Everett, WA. He is survived by mother Patricia Conway- Ortiz, Puyallup Tribe and father Ernesto Ortiz, Spokane Tribe; siblings Karar Conway, Daisharae Ortiz, Ché Ortiz-Conway, and Gwen Conway; grandparents Debra Contreras, Tulalip, and Dorothy Numkena Spokane Tribe, Ernie Ortiz, Mexican, great grandfather Walter 'Smokey' Metcalf, Skagit Tribe; many Aunts, Uncles, Cousins, and Friends.

Ty was full of life, love and light, his smile lit up a room and melted your heart in an instant. From the time he could walk his empathetic spirit connected to the little ones, holding their hand, helping them along their way, a baby whisperer. As he grew into school age his joyful spirit attracted all who came into contact with him, when Ty walked into a room everyone stopped what they were doing and shouted his name with excitement, TY!

Ty excelled in academics and was in the gifted and talented program. He began playing basketball for the Puyallup Tribes team and then adventured out to other tribal teams. Ty never was afraid to try something new, travel somewhere new, explore the possibilities of life and make new friends. He enjoyed the opportunity to think outside the box and often thought of ways to make our world a better place.

Ty's charismatic, loving, outgoing, fun, courageous and determined spirit touched many lives everywhere he went. Ty enjoyed learning and practicing his tribal traditions and ceremonies all his life. We will remember him always!

I would like to thank everyone, who helped raise my son, everyone who loved my son, taught my son, and who had a positive impact on his life.

We had a wake on 12/23 and funeral services on 12/24 both at Chief Leschi Schools. We buried our son next to his Big Uncle David Duenas at Cushman Cemetery, Puyallup Reservation. We will continue to honor Ty's life by staying true to our Indian way life.

In respect of our traditions and to ensure our son's spirit is at rest with Creator, I humbly ask to please put away his picture until his memorial in December 2022. We want to thank everyone who had a helping hand, a prayer, good thoughts, good medicines, and good songs to share on behalf of our son Ty's life and spirit!! We are forever grateful to Creator for your lives and the support you have shown to us in our time of need! We raise our hands up to you!! Love the Conway-Ortiz Family!

Happy February Birthday to Dr. Verna Louie-Bartlett.

There isn't a day that goes by that my thoughts don't turn to you Mom, during the month of February I want to wish you a Happy Heavenly Birthday.

Sincerely,
your daughter, Eugena.

Hidden in Plain Sight

Carolyn DeFord, Trafficking Project Coordinator

There are few crimes more complex and devastating than human trafficking, and few crimes more challenging for communities to recognize and address. For many of us, the reality of trafficking in our community is hard to grasp, let alone confront. Despite the challenges in addressing this dark issue, we must face it head on as a community. Trafficking is happening all around us and we have a responsibility and obligation as a community to make a stand and protect our most vulnerable.

Modern day slavery, also known as human trafficking, is a crime that involves force, fraud, or coercion to compel a person to provide labor or services, or to engage in commercial sex acts in exchange for anything of value. Exploitation of a minor for commercial sex does not require force, fraud or coercion and is human trafficking any time sex is exchanged for anything of value. The exchange of anything of value isn't always money. It could be gift cards, shelter, drugs, food, child care/ANYTHING of value.

Let's look at force, fraud and coercion another way, force in the form of violence, fraud in the form of lies, false love, and deceit, and coercion in the form of threats or manipulation. It can be difficult for law enforcement to prove trafficking cases because these tactics may eventually compel a victim to volunteer or consent to sex work to avoid punishment or to please their trafficker. Traffickers take complete control, leaving their victim unable to attempt to escape the situation. Many victims may even want to stay with the trafficker.

Unlike drug trafficking, which is high risk, and limited supply, human trafficking is low risk, with high reward, and limitless supply. As the fastest-growing organized criminal activity in the United States, human trafficking generates an estimated $32 billion a year. Traffickers collect the profit while destroying the lives of thousands of innocent people including youth. The average age a child is first trafficked is between 12 and 15 years.

Raising awareness and sharing information about where to get help is especially important now. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, people are at a greater risk for trafficking because more people are financially vulnerable and our youth are spending more time online. The anti-trafficking group Polaris, has reported the National Human Trafficking Hotline has seen a 40% call increase during the pandemic. They have also reported that in 2018 Washington State increased from #13 to #8 in hotline calls and that up to 700 youth are forced into prostitution each year.

Human trafficking is hidden in plain sight, and can happen to anyone. Chances are there is not going to be anything visible that would alert you that a stranger is being trafficked. That may come as a surprise – especially after learning the signs and indicators of trafficking. But, when we learn more about how trafficking actually works, we are also learning that the best way to help is to educate yourselves, and pay attention to people you actually know or interact with – your students, your clients, your children, your friends, your neighbors, your patients, and your co-workers.

Here are a few signs:

- Does the person appear disconnected from family, friends, community, or cultural or religious organizations?
- Has a child started falling asleep in class, having frequent absences, or stopped attending school?
- Has the person had a sudden or dramatic change in behavior?
- Has the person had a dramatic change in attire, are they dressed inappropriate for the weather?
- Is a juvenile engaged in commercial sex acts?
- Does the person have tattoos/ branding on the neck, face, shoulders, chest, hands, and/or lower back? Brands may be anything, but could be tattoos of crowns, dollar signs, cards, or names.
- Is the person disoriented or confused, or showing signs of mental or physical abuse?
- Does the person have bruises in various stages of healing?
- Is the person fearful, timid, or submissive? Are they avoiding eye contact?

- Does the person show signs of having been denied food, water, sleep, or medical care?
- Is the person often in the company of someone to whom he or she defers? Or someone who seems to be in control of the situation or speaking for them?
- Does the person appear to be coached on what to say?
- Does someone else hold the person's identification?
- Is the person living in unsuitable conditions?
- Does the person lack personal possessions and appear not to have a stable living situation?
- Does the person have freedom of movement? Can the person freely leave where they live? Are there unreasonable security measures?
- Does the person suddenly have new clothes, jewelry, purses, phone etc.

Not all indicators listed above are present in every human trafficking situation, and the presence or absence of any of the indicators is not necessarily proof of human trafficking.

Human trafficking can happen to anyone. Pay close attention and if you notice any of the signs above do not approach them. If someone is in immediate danger, please call 911.

If you believe you may have information about a trafficking situation:

Call the National Human Trafficking Hotline toll-free hotline at 1-888-373-7888: Anti-Trafficking Hotline Advocates are available 24/7 to take reports of potential human trafficking.

Re-entry program offers support for those coming from addiction and incarceration

By Puyallup News Staff

“We are the healing generation,” said Mona Miller, Director of the Tribe’s Re-Entry program.

Mona Miller has been working with Puyallup Tribal members seeking accountability while on their path to sobriety and recovery for years.

The Puyallup Tribe offers a Re-entry program to members struggling with drugs and alcohol addiction or a history of incarceration. Many individuals turn to the Re-entry program as a resource to change their lives for the better through job security, returning to culture, and individual therapy and healing. Some recovered Re-entry participants have even found positions working in the program.

Through Re-entry participants can expect an inclusive support group, weekly Wellbriety meetings, accountability check-ins, and additional resources to return to a clean and healthy lifestyle. Re-entry provides an individualized approach to life change by working with every participant and creating a plan that best meets their needs, situation, and ultimate goals.

Re-entry emphasizes the importance of inclusivity, and that any member seeking help will be welcomed into the program and loved through it.

Miller recalled her own pathway to recovery remembering when someone had told her she would, “love her until she learned to love herself.” The line has stuck with her to this day and she plans to do that for each and every Tribal member who enters her program, “Expect accountability,” she said, “My office hours are not just 8-5.”

Mona Miller and the Re-Entry program are here as a resource to the Tribal community to motivate members through the recovery process and help bring healing to both the individual and their family.

For more information about the Re-Entry program and to learn more, contact Mona Miller at 253-355-8927.

Puyallup Tribal Community Cancer Committee

By Kalli Albertus, Puyallup Tribal News Editor

Doctors, infusions, daily supplements, delayed appointments, chemotherapy, hospitals, and invasive procedures are all ways in which cancer can be seen and experienced in a patient’s day-to-day life.

Recognizing a need to mitigate the trials experienced by people impacted by cancer, Dorothy Earl, who is undergoing cancer treatment herself, submitted a proposal for a new cancer committee to Tribal Council in 2021. Once approved and grant-funded, appointed members of the committee Teresa Harvey, Billie Barnes, Kathy Lopez, Sally George, Penny (Deena) Fryberg, Joshua Deen, and Angela Shippentower went to work on finding solutions. Every individual on the committee has a firsthand experience with cancer, resulting in an intimate connection with the medical field serving them and more personal experiences pointing to what might be improved.

Dr. Stanlee Lu, a medical oncologist and medical director at the Salish Cancer Center, has partnered with the committee in an effort to improve a cancer patients paths to recovery and overall interaction with doctors. The committee discussed the important relationship between the Salish Cancer Center and their success and shared how supportive the team is. “They are all so kind. They care about you and know you as soon as you walk in,” says committee member Teresa Harvey.

One of the committee’s top requests to assist with early detection is for the Salish Cancer Center to purchase its own MRI machine. Patients can often wait months to get an MRI appointment which is essential in catching early stages of cancer, often within families suffering from hereditary cancer. The Puyallup Tribal Community Cancer Committee and the Salish Cancer Center work to bring long-term solutions like imaging scans to support those in the Tribal community who continue to be impacted by cancer.

As the committee works to prioritize top needs for patients and survivors, they look to the Cancer Treatment Centers of America (CTCA) in Arizona as a premier model in successfully tackling treatment. The committee’s goals are to mirror much of their family care and support programs, as well as the seamless inter-communication between doctors and patients. Eventually the committee hopes to do an onsite visit to the CTCA campus to learn more.

Kathy Lopez, committee chair, discussed how her involvement in the committee has helped in her journey with cancer: “Talk about your cancer. It’s just something that happened. We can learn.”

The new cancer committee remains focused on advocating for cancer patients and survivors within the Tribal community while providing them the needed resources for their fight against cancer.

You can find more community resources from the Salish Cancer Center at salishcancercenter.com/community_resources/

Mystical moments

By Councilman James Rideout

It's nice to see our children achieve their short term and then long term goals. Tomorrow (Dec. 5, 2021) Jackie Salyers, son of Osceola Bluehorse, will be playing in the Minnesota Vikings stadium listed as a PUYALLUP Tribal Member! The event consists of a select group of Tribal athletes for an Indigenous Bowl, chosen from the rosters of high schools for academic and athletic ability to reach what I call a 212 degree of boiling point! Where water separates from a water form to steam. Such as people like Jim Thorp and many other extraordinary Indigenous athletes of our ancestors.

Jackie stated in his high school championship football game win against Standing Rock, "I keep my culture, family and memories of my mother (Jackie Salyers) as well as aunty sister (Michele) drive me to be the best I can be."

As an uncle I can never stop learning from our youth, they are our today and our future. His uncle Jake Rideout has also made family, the Tribe, and ancestors proud by achieving his goals in being selected to play in the U.S. basketball junior nationals in 2008 and 2009.

What a way to turn pain into purpose and carry into places we have only dreamt of! Keep on dreaming and achieving your short term goals, as well your long term goals.

Keep your head up, shoulders back and enjoy every moment.

We are so proud of you, the whole family is proud of you, and I know your mom especially is always watching over you and is smiling down on all of her children.

Keep up the great work! Keep reaching for your dreams.

Aho all my relations.

Grand opening of EQC Sportsbook: The betting capital of the Northwest

By Kalli Albertus, Puyallup Tribal News Editor

The Tacoma EQC held its grand opening of the new BetMGM Sportsbook on Dec. 20. BetMGM, an exclusive sports betting division of MGM and the Emerald Queen Casino announced that legalized sports betting is now live in Washington at the BetMGM Sportsbook at EQC.

A blessing from Connie McCloud kicked off the opening, followed by remarks from Tribal Council, which was later said in a press release: "EQC has really gone above and beyond in making BetMGM Sportsbook @ EQC the premier destination for sports betting in the Northwest. We've got the biggest video screen in the country, great seating, and an opening day that brought sports legends plus a live broadcast and a live game. We are striving to offer the best sports betting experience around at the Betting Capital of the Northwest!"

EQC General Manager Frank Wright Jr. and Chairman Bill Sterud cut the ribbon. There were also a cake-cutting and ceremonial first bets.

The EQC sportsbook space was completely redesigned with a massive 500-square-foot-plus LED wall surrounded by a new bar and lounge fit with 70 leather armchairs, six ticket windows staffed with ticket writers, and betting kiosks. Special guests at the event included Mariners All Star and baseball Hall of Famer Edgar Martinez, Super Bowl Champions & Pro Bowlers: #36 Seahawks safety Lawyer Milloy, #18 Seahawks wide receiver Sidney Rice, and #24 Seahawks running back Marshawn Lynch.

All Puyallup Tribal members were invited to the event and were able to place some of the first bets at the sportsbook.

COVID-19 Reminders: Vaccine incentive extended

By Puyallup Tribal News Staff

- All Tribal members and employees are still eligible to receive the $500 vaccine incentive
- Employees must be vaccinated or get tested weekly
- Building entry restrictions requires visitors show proof of vaccination or negative COVID-19 test

Following Tribal Council's decision to return to phase 2 of the Administrations reopening plan on Jan. 4, many precautions that had previously been removed are now put back into place as safety measures for the community.

To help stop the spread of the new Omicron variant and prevent breakthrough cases, receiving the Covid-19 vaccine and additional booster shots are found to be the most successful solutions. An ongoing resource the Tribe has continued to offer employees and Tribal members throughout the pandemic is the vaccine incentive. A $500 incentive will be given to Tribal members and employees who receive both of their Covid-19 vaccinations.

To date, PTHA has reported more than 1,631 positive tests. Tacoma-Pierce County Health Department reported more than 291 new cases this week. The pandemic remains an ongoing threat and we continue to trust the advice of our medical director, Dr. Alan Shelton, and he has consistently counseled caution.

Reminders from Admin as we return to Phase 2:

1. Employees must be vaccinated or get tested weekly: A policy has been approved that makes either full vaccination against Covid-19 or weekly testing a condition of employment for all Tribal Administration employees. The effective date of this policy has been extended until procedures are put into place. Please watch for further notice.
2. Building entry restrictions: Members, community members, vendors, employees and visitors must show proof syayayaʔ, ʔiišəd, tiḵdx^w t(i) adʔiišəd.

Family, friends, take care of your community.

The vaccine isn't just for your safety, it's to protect our community.

Consult with your doctor to determine your COVID-19 vaccine eligibility.

Supporting our local economy – Powered by Puyallup

By Katie Manzanares, Puyallup Tribal Member

Being part of a Tribe or a member of the Tribal community means you are a part of a sovereign nation. Being a member of the Puyallup Tribe is not only an honor but something we can take great pride in. Tribal sovereignty is defined as a right to self-govern. The federal government recognizes the Puyallup Tribe as a distinct government, holding the same authority as other federal and state governments. Sovereignty allows the Tribe to have its own internal affairs which is why we have our own police department, judicial system, schools, and freedom for enterprise and entrepreneurial endeavors.

Since time immemorial, our rich lands have always provided the goods Tribal members needed to survive. Members would work together to harvest the natural resources to ensure everyone's needs were met. "When the tides were out, the table was spread," is a notable Coast Salish saying because of our abundance of salmon and shellfish.

Over the years Tribal Council has moved various business opportunities into fruition for economic development to continue to aid to the needs of our membership. Recently, the Tribe has enacted a new performance-based per capita; meaning the better the Tribal entities do, the better we do as a Tribe financially. Shopping at our local entities is one way members can reinvest in our Tribal economy.

What does supporting our local Tribal economy look like?

- Grab lunch inside one of our two fantastic EQC casinos with delicious food options like the new Slahal rooftop restaurant in Tacoma or Tatoosh Grill in Fife.
- Buy cannabis from one of our four Commencement Bay Cannabis locations.
- Get gas at one of our six locations, Tahoma Gas Stations, located throughout the reservation.
- Wash your car at Tahoma's car wash located in Fife. A monthly car wash pass can keep your car looking fresh and at a discounted rate.
- Spend the night at our beautiful new EQC Tacoma hotel.
- Place a bet on your favorite sports team at the new BetMGM Sportsbook located inside the EQC Tacoma casino.
- Perfect your putt at North Shore's well-maintained golf course.

Public Comment Announcement

The Department of Planning and Land Use Services is requesting input from the Puyallup Tribal Membership regarding updates to the Tribe's annual Tribal Transportation Planning (TTP) Inventory.

The TTP allows for the Tribe to allocate federal grant funds towards public roads, transit, and public walking trails within the Puyallup Reservation boundaries and usual and accustomed areas. Current and past projects has included Browning Street (ongoing), the St. George Cemetery road, the completion and repair of Chief Leschi's School road, and 30th Street expansion and roundabout.

- What are the public roads that are in need of repair or safety improvements within the reservation boundary?
- Is your street on the TTP street inventory for future road work?
- What are your transportation needs, questions, and concerns?

The Planning Department is currently reviewing the TTP inventory which include but are not limited to roads within Tacoma, Fife, Milton, Edgewood, Puyallup and unincorporated Pierce County.
